

HIGHBROW

I can only eat Hass avocados. I have no idea what this other thing is.

I've still unfortunately never seen Celine Dion in concert.

I attended journalism camp summer of 10th grade.

I attended math camp summer of 11th grade.

The sound of children singing makes me cry. But google still can't tell me why.

I like to tell people I'm a vegan because it's the only way I get positive feedback on my lifestyle choices.

I average around 7 Sephora samples a month.

Never forget that Titanic won the Oscar for Best Picture.

I'm still looking for a dance camp to attend as an adult.

Have you seen the Sorry dance music video?

I've read the first free chapter of all the top self help e-books on Amazon. I highly recommend the first chapter of The Power of Habit.

DESPICABLE

BRILLIANT

I struggle to create personal relationships with people who love Game of Thrones.

I dislike all animals, except for taxidermy goats.

I have a google alert set up for R. Kelly's Trapped in the Closet on Broadway. I'm still patiently waiting.

My 2016 goals include joining a dance crew.

I'm sorry, but unfortunately there is no way I can vote in the 2016 presidential election.

Twitter is my only social network, but unfortunately I have no friends on twitter. But I do always know what's trending. It is often related to One Direction.

I'm pretty sure I have an extra knuckle on all of my toes. But no one will ever know because no one will ever see my feet.

I only killed 3 plants in 2015—which is a huge, and welcome improvement over 2014's stats.

Sometimes I type notes to the NSA in my browser address bar because I'm pretty sure they're spying on me.

My mental map of New York City is mainly framed around Law & Order SVU episodes.

Tommy Wiseau's The Room still wins over Lenny Abrahamson's.
